

Blended Learning Solutions from ASHI

American Safety & Health Institute's (ASHI) Blended Learning Solutions combine online lessons with hands-on skills practice and evaluations for a complete and flexible learning experience. This turnkey program lets the Training Center control the training from start to conclusion.

WHAT IS IT?

A way to engage students who have limited time for training. They can access online course materials from any computer at any time, and then complete their learning with an Instructor-led, in-class skills session.

WHY BLENDED LEARNING?

Efficient learning

Blended learning offers convenience and time efficiencies not possible in traditional classroom training settings:

Easy administration

With ASHI's blended learning program, you enjoy the ease of online learning while still minimizing your administrative burden:

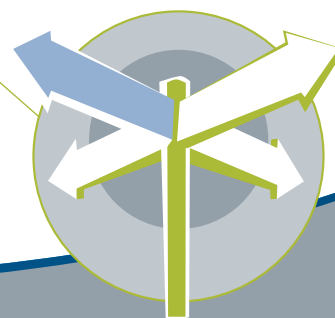

- Manage your rosters and purchase blended learning credits through ASHI's online Training Center Manager portal
- Rely on automated enrollment and reminder email notifications sent to student's inbox
- Track students online advancement with status updates of "in progress" or "completed"

Minimize lost productivity with employees away from their work area for only the skills portion of the training program

Let students learning materials for the entire certification period

Rely on blended learning, which studies show is as as traditional course delivery methods (J Allied Health, 2009)

Appeal to the adult learner with a self-directed, interactive online experience
